Chicago Federation of Labor Endorses Jeff Tobolski

“We feel that he is the best candidate to create jobs in the community, look out for the interests of working families, and restore accountability to the County Board.”

La Grange, IL-- The campaign is proud to announce another major endorsement today, this time from the Chicago area’s largest labor organization. “The Chicago Federation of Labor is happy to endorse Jeff Tobolski for Cook County Commissioner in the 16th District in the upcoming election. We feel that he is the best candidate to create jobs in the community, look out for the interests of working families, and restore accountability to the County Board,” said Dennis Gannon, President of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

The Chicago Federation of Labor is the umbrella organization for labor unions in Cook County. The CFL represents more than 300 local affiliated unions comprised of approximately half a million union members.

“I am thrilled to have the CFL's endorsement in the race for Cook County Commissioner. “They have a great track record of fighting for working men and women.” said Tobolski. “I will work hard to live up to their standard, and will find creative solutions to bring jobs to the District- just as I have done in McCook.”

Since Jeff Tobolski became Mayor he has created hundreds of jobs by finding creative ways to bring businesses into McCook. Driving through McCook Business Center one notices brand new industrial buildings like Burke Beverage, McCook Cold Storage, and Capitol Wholesale Meats. In a time when businesses are fleeing Cook County by droves, Jeff Tobolski has created hundreds of new jobs right here in McCook.
